

BARRY'S SONG (When I See Barry Smile)
(For Barry Spiro's 60th birthday)
Mike Delaney 1/28/10

He dribbles through the verses
Like a court in Prospect Heights
Making jump shots with his flat pick
He has worked to get it right
A survivor of the sixties
He's been at it for a while
I know his game is clicking
When I see Barry smile
When I see Barry smile

Songs for friends and family
And a few against the war
From his bag he pulls old chestnuts
But he also asks "what for"
He lives his life up-tempo
And without a hint of guile
I hear the beating in his chest
When I see Barry smile
When I see Barry smile

I wonder if he hears my smile
When we sit down to jam
Can he tell I am beaming?
I really hope he can <modulate up>

<instrumental A-part>

Though at times his eyes are hidden
Beneath his baseball cap
He's past the hour for joking
It's too late for him to nap
He keeps the music flowing
For another lyric mile
A precious moment timeless
When I see Barry smile
When I see Barry smile
