RAINBOW FACES Mike Delaney, 9/2/19

My next-door neighbors, they came here from Saigon Aiding our troops while surviving the war Next to them are young Haitians, nearly killed in the earthquake They all seek to succeed on our shores

Upstairs young Chaitali, she came here from Delhi Studies physics at Tufts; she's top in her class Her roommate is Bina, who grew up in Haifa She's learning at art school, to make sculptures in glass

Chorus:

In this Rainbow of Faces, is our sweet salvation Strengthened by fabrics, weaving kaleidoscope strands We struggle together; we're in it forever Rainbow Faces from so many lands

My friend, Juan Hernandez, fled a hurricane in Honduras For 20 years he's worked two jobs on an assembly line Coaches soccer on Saturdays; goes to church every Sunday Yet his goals in life are the same as mine

Bridge:

We all came from another place By choice, by force, or risky escape Travelers running in the human race We struggle every day to survive

Pay our taxes, do our work
Pull our weight, never shirk
Finally, there's the ultimate perq—
We have the right to be alive
